KEY SPIRITUAL TAKEAWAY

"Over the last year I started asking God the question, 'what does it look like for me to host you?' To make a space where He felt the most comfortable, the most seen, the most honored,"

(Transliterated from the original Hindi.)

They had gathered only to pray. When prayer itself becomes the target, faith is proved not by words but by staying.

The Story - Part One

Nashville-based worship leader and songwriter Kory Miller released his new album HOST on 20 November 2026, available now on all major streaming platforms. The 13-track project was born from Miller's HOST YouTube sessions, a series of intimate worship gatherings with friends, musicians and fellow songwriters that has attracted nearly 1 million views across five sessions. Miller is an independent artist with 33AC.

Picture the room where it started. Not an arena, not a stage with lights and smoke. A gathering of friends in a room, singing together, trying to learn what it means to make space for God. Nearly a million people have now watched those sessions online.

That is the story of this album in one line: it began as a living room, and it became a record. No big launch, no stadium tour announcement. Just five gatherings, filmed simply, that kept growing until the songs demanded an album of their own.

Miller's question through the whole project was a simple one, and he asked it out loud: what does it look like to host God? Not to perform for Him. Not to impress Him. To host Him - to make a space where He feels comfortable, seen and honoured.

Kory Miller HOST Album: From YouTube Worship Sessions To A Full Record

What began as a chance to gather with friends, worship together and grow in understanding how to honour God has now become a full-length album. The project captures the heart and atmosphere of those sessions.

HOST invites listeners into the same spirit of intentional worship that defined the gatherings. Rather than focusing on performance, the album creates space for genuine devotion and a renewed focus on the presence of God.

Miller put the heart of it in his own words. "Over the last year I started asking God the question, 'what does it look like for me to host you?' To make a space where He felt the most comfortable, the most seen, the most honored," he said. "I remember when I said yes to the Lord moving into my life. He's not a guest that's stopping by. He is the Lord; he owns the house and He's here to stay. HOST is my attempt at trying to learn preferences and being willing to get anything out of the way if it doesn't serve the one I'm hosting."

The Turning Point - What Happens Next

The story reaches a life-changing moment that changes everything -- and what seemed like the end is only the middle. Two reports disagree on the numbers, and one question is left unanswered: will the CCTV footage ever come out? Read the full story to find out what happens next.

PERSONAL REFLECTION & DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. When gathering to pray carries a real cost, what keeps a community coming together anyway -- and what would keep you coming?

2. The pastor's sister shielded him with her own body and fainted under the blows. What does costly, self-giving love look like in your own family or church?

3. When justice is delayed and a complaint is withdrawn under threat, how do believers hold on to truth without giving in to fear -- or to hatred?
